THE RUSSIAN PROPOSITION serves the most serious consideration of the statesmen and diplomats of the lowers. While the assembling of such a body and the discussion of the questions involved may not result in the accomplishment of the beneficen-and so carnestly set forth by the Rusian foreign minister, no harm coulfrom such a gathering and since cost would not be energy would not be onerous y of the governments in would undountedly by the part of wisdom to have the conference No nation would be bound to abide by the conclusions reached by the confer-ecs unless common sense and produced suggested such a course no intelligent perso ould deny the desirability of universa-cace. Whenever the dogs of war arse some one is bound to pa for the devastation and destruction that follow in the bloody wake of war-fare, and the world is poorer by just that much. Now, whether or not the world has reached such a stage of per fection as to make universal cossible is another question. If we may udge from the experience of the Inited States government in its deal with Spain the answer would b ems to furnish a powerful ar of mildness and justice to which no mation could object Itnesia has been attitude intil the friendship of England has been threatened and Alexander's government has laid itself open to the suspicion of desiring to provoke a war which would undoubtedly be the mas disastrous in the history of the world.

It is difficult to imagine that such a proposition could be made with ulter rior motives in view, but the action o Russia is by no means consistent wit its recently discovered policy of world wide pacification.

It is to be hoped that the proposition made in good faith and that Preswill at once take practical steps snow its successty.

Some of our exteemed contemporaries seem inclined to make uncomplimenary remarks concerning Captain Gen-eral Blanco and are urging that to Cuban commission get to work at one. so that the insufferable braggert ma be retired to that side of the world where his peculiar talents will be ap-preciated. Of course, it would be we-to settle the affairs in Cuba at the carliest possible moment, so that the car-fering reconcentrados may be alded, so far as Blanco is concerned. far as Blanco is concerned, he is simple an incident, and, considering the harn lessness of his vaporings, it seems sily for any one, to pay attention to them
